RE: Joint Application of United Air Lines, Inc., and Air China Cargo, Docket OST-03-16213

Dear Sirs:

This is to notify you of a change of routings that will affect certain city pairs where Air China's designator code is displayed on United operated flights (UA/CA*). As originally filed, the CA* code was displayed on United flights operated over a Chicago-San Francisco-Shanghai routing as described in Attachment A to the Department's Notice of Action Taken, dated October 24, 2003, in the referenced docket ("NOAT"). The CA* code appears on all segments of that routing.

Commencing October 31, 2004, United will be operating nonstop service between Chicago and Shanghai. The Air China code will be displayed on that flight. In addition, Air China will continue to code share on United flights operated in the San Francisco-Chicago and San Francisco-Shanghai city pairs. To reflect this new service pattern, appropriate modifications are needed in Attachment A to the NOAT referred to above.

United also gives notice at this time to the extent necessary to display Air China's code on United's nonstop flights operated between San Francisco and Beijing (UA/CA*). Notice was already given for the display of the United code on flights operated by Air China in that city pair (CA/UA*). The city pair "San Francisco-Beijing" should also be added to Attachment A of the aforesaid NOAT under the heading "Air China's CA Code on United's Transpacific Flights."

A copy of Attachment A to the NOAT as modified to reflect the above service changes is attached showing modifications in bold italics.

Respectfully submitted,

Jeffrey A. Manley
Counsel for
UNITED AIR LINES, INC.
