

I highly encourage the passage of Nondiscrimination on the Basis of Disability in Air Travel - Medical Oxygen and Portable Respiration Assistive Devices. Not only do many individuals require the assistance of oxygen, most travel destinations (cruise ships, hotels and other vacation locations) allow the usage and accommodate the necessity of portable respiration devices. HOWEVER, those affected find they cannot travel via airlines to get to their destination simply due to the fact they cannot travel without respiratory assistance.

Passage of this rule will encourage more travel, specifically within the United States, as more people will have access and appropriate accommodations for air travel.

Thank you.
