COMMENTS OF US AIRWAYS, INC.

US Airways, Inc. ("US Airways") applauds the Department's success in securing new rights for U.S. carriers in order to satisfy the growing demand in the U.S.-Colombia market.¹

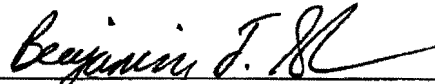

US Airways notes the applications of other carriers for new U.S.-Colombia service and anticipates that the Department will institute a carrier selection proceeding to award the frequencies in a manner that produces the maximum consumer benefits. US Airways fully intends to participate in any carrier selection proceeding instituted by the Department, and looks forward to demonstrating why new service between

¹ The new agreement provides for 21 additional frequencies, although depending on how the Department handles the currently unused frequencies of an incumbent carrier that number could rise to 28. US Airways hopes the Department will maximize the total number of frequencies available for new entry.

Comments of US Airways
(U.S.-Colombia)

Charlotte, North Carolina – US Airways' largest hub – and Colombia, will best serve the public interest.²
